Christians Around World Pause To Observe Easter

Sunrise Service Is Conducted Throughout US

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A horn blows in a village dawn. An orchestra plays beside the sea. A child laughs. A flower is worn. A chorus sings, "Alleluia!"

These, and many others, are the voices of Easter this Sunday morning as Christianity the world around celebrates its grandest theme, "The Lord is risen indeed!"

The words swell with the rising sun—sounding from pulpits and platforms, flowing over broadcasting networks, echoing through canyon walls and over amplifiers, spoken in many tongues, in many lands.

Church doors open to their biggest crowds of the year. Music and pageantry burst forth in the mountains and parks and streets of cities.

It is a day of color and jubilation. Glad prayers are uttered. Across the United States, the annual festival brought planned sunrise services at a score of national beauty spots where thousands will gather for dramatic rites of worship and praise.

As the day advances, there'll be the customary Easter egg frolics for the youngsters, the explosion of fashion and finery on public thoroughfares, the flower-bright crowds streaming to churches.

In Washington, President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend Easter services at 11 a.m. in the National Presbyterian church.

Members of the Supreme Court and many other government officials were to be at annual dawn services in Arlington National Cemetery. An aura of peace and cheer would mark the occasion in this country.

But far away, at the geographical heart of its origin—Jerusalem's Holy Sepulcher—omens of warfare haunted the scene, shrinking the usual throngs of visiting Christians.

Many Christians flocked into the Jordan sector to worship at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, in Arab hands ever since another war—the blood-betraying Christian Crusade—ended in defeat in the 12th Century.

In Rome, the center of Roman Catholicism, more than 200,000 visitors packed the city, jamming its churches, swarming outside the Vatican, and awaiting Pope Pius XII's Easter Sunday message.

British Clamp Another Curfew On Cyprus City

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 31 (AP)—The British government tonight clamped a curfew on the heart of Nicosia through Easter Sunday to curb a threatened outbreak of violence.

The order, issued by Gov. Sir John Harding, answered a threat of bloodshed by Eoka, the underground organization of Greek Cypriots. Tomorrow is the first anniversary of Eoka's campaign to win union with Greece by force.

The curfew—second in a week—placed a seal around the 14th Century walls which surround the old center of the city of 35,000, from 8:30 p.m. tonight until 4 a.m. Monday.

The order caught the city by surprise. It had been rumored that the authorities were preparing to order the curfew, but it was not anticipated until tomorrow morning and it was expected to apply through the entire island.

The government announcement said special arrangements had been made to allow persons to pass through the ring to attend Easter Sunday church services.

However, Anglican, Roman Catholic and Protestant churches are the only one observing Easter tomorrow. The Greek Orthodox Church, to which most Greeks in this island of 500,000 belong, celebrates Easter later because of calendar differences.

Time to Recuperate

Looks like it might be a most pleasant Easter Sunday. And, of course, weather won't make any difference to the young fry, busy shoving down jelly beans. Got any bicarb, Mom?

Sees Chance Of Escaping Veto by Ike

Sen. Aiken Thinks Patchwork Farm Bill Can Be 'Cleaned Up'

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today there still is some chance that Congress will "clean up" a patchwork election-year farm bill enough to avoid a presidential veto.

Aiken, frequent administration spokesman on farm policies, offered this comment as a Senate House Conference Committee held an unproductive Saturday session in its efforts to compromise widely different measures passed by the two chambers. In early afternoon the conferees knocked off work until next week.

As the bill stands now it contains the $1,200,000,000 soil bank proposal asked by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson as well as a half dozen other provisions they have criticized sharply.

This is a result of the combining of the soil bank with high price supports and other features demanded by most Democrat and some farm belt Republicans.

The conference of five senators and five representatives is scheduled to resume its work Tuesday and to vote on final recommendations next Friday, after other Congress members return from a 10-day Easter recess.

The complicated and controversial farm legislation then moves back to the house and senate for approval, rejection or revision.

"There are still three or four things not acceptable to the administration," Aiken said of the present draft. "These include the proposed return to 90 per cent of parity supports for one year on basic crops, the dual or double standard on parity and the 29-called domestic parity or two-price wheat program."

"But the Senate and House still must act on this, and they may be able to clean it up so that the President will not find it too objectionable."

This indicated a battle, first on the House floor and then in the Senate, to reshape the bill again.

Ex-Sedalian, Former Slave, Observes His 110th Birthday Today

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 31 (AP)—John Shaffer, a former slave, will observe his 110th birthday Sunday at the Leavenworth County home.

He has been living at the home since 1948, spending his days smoking and listening to the radio. He said he began smoking when he was 9 years old.

Although blind and feeble he remains mentally alert, particularly regarding incidents of his childhood. One incident, he recalls, was the time Abraham Lincoln patted him on the head.

He was born in Virginia and as a boy came west to Sibley, Mo. After he was freed he left the farm and got a job varnishing caskets. He later worked as a hog scaler for the Plant Packing Co. and Armour & Co., in Kansas City, then moved to Sedalia where he was a Methodist church janitor for 30 years.

He later returned to Sibley as a brick mason's helper and came here, taking a job as a street sweeper.

Asked how it feels to be 110 years old, Shaffer said:

"Well it beats some of them and there may be others older."

Easter Egg Hunt Turns Up Sticks Of Capped Dynamite

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—No Easter egg hunt for the kiddies in the hills around Newhall. Sheriff's officers said two children on an egg hunt yesterday found two sticks of dynamite with caps and fuses attached. A Pacoima truck driver also reported he found a dynamite stick, capped with a six-inch fuse, four miles east of Saugus.

Officers are trying to trace the source of the explosives and have warned hikers and picnickers to use extreme caution.

Ike Urges Moderation In Racial Tiff

Hopeful Congress Will Follow Appeal For Bipartisan Board

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower, calling anew for "moderate and responsible" leadership to solve racial problems, said today he may set up conferences on the subject if Congress doesn't act.

He said he was still hopeful Congress will follow his recommendation that it set up a bipartisan commission. As outlined in his State of the Union message Jan. 5 this commission would investigate charges that Negroes are being deprived of the vote in some localities and are "being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures."

Eisenhower made his remarks today in a letter to Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, who had called on the President to convene a conference of Southern governors and attorneys general for a discussion of racial relations.

Collins, in a wire on March 22, had told the President that as a result of the Supreme Court's school integration decision and of activities of extremists on both sides "we are experiencing what will may be a deterioration of racial relations. We are fearful that progress we have made over many years may be dissipated."

Eisenhower replied that Collins' wire "has my thoughtful attention" and added: "I am deeply cognizant of the difficult adjustments confronting some localities in complying with the school decision of the Supreme Court. It seems to me, however, that the progress already made in certain regions of the South before and since this decision is a clear indication that we can look forward to even greater progress if we can look to moderation and responsible leadership supported by a spirit of patience on the part of all of our people."

The report is said to have gained wide currency in the Soviet Union. One account said the allegation against Stalin was included in a three-hour long letter being read to Communist party meetings in Moscow and other large cities.

Circulation of this story adds one more facet to the mystery that has surrounded the death of 30-year-old Nadia in November 1932.

For years there have been reports that she committed suicide or that she died from poisoning after eating food prepared for Stalin. Other accounts have described her as the one woman Stalin really loved, and the one person who, while she lived, tempered his ruthlessness.

At the time of her death the official Kremlin announcement said she had died "after a long illness."

Isaac Deutscher's political biography of Stalin gives the suicide version of her death, the one probably most widely accepted.

Will Perform Here Tuesday Night— Young Concert Artist Is Guest Of Sedalia Symphony Orchestra

Jeanene Dowis, young concert artist of the piano, will be the guest of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra, under the directorship of Abe Rosenthal, at the orchestra's concert Tuesday night, April 3, at Smith-Cotton Auditorium. This will be the last symphony concert of the 1955-56 season and will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Dowis has been heralded nationally as an outstanding concert pianist in the short period of time she has been appearing on the concert stage. Received as a "master pianist" on the occasion of her Washington, D.C., concert debut at the National Gallery of Art last season, the beautiful American pianist, who is a native of Texas, has been placed foremost among the young artists of her generation by critics.

Her reception in the nation's capital as the "most interesting pianistic newcomer of the season," according to the Washington Times Herald, resulted in an immediate reengagement for performances with the National Gallery Orchestra in Washington and Annapolis.

Miss Dowis recently has appeared with the Dallas Symphony, Mobile Symphony Orchestra, and the Little Falls Philharmonic. Her present tour is taking her into Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana. On April 18 she performs a solo recital at Purdue University as the "Young Artist of the Year."

She studied with Adele Marcus, and more recently, with Mme. Rosina Lhevinne at the Juilliard School of Music. Upon graduation from Juilliard, Miss Dowis was presented with the Carl Roeder Award granted to the pianist "most outstanding in talent and achievement." This honor was another in a series of awards.

Man Killed While Changing Auto Tire

BONNE TERRE, Mo. (AP)—William Thomas Nash, 23, of Rt. 1, Bonne Terre, was struck and killed by a car about 2:45 a.m. Saturday, apparently when he stepped from his car which he had parked on the shoulder of a highway to fix a flat tire.

He was struck by a car driven by William Clyde Conway, 21, of Bonne Terre, on U.S. 67 five miles north of here.

Drury College Choir Appears Here April 11

The 40 men and women who compose the Drury College Choir, Springfield, will appear in their spring concert on Wednesday, April 11, at Smith-Cotton High School at 2:30 p.m. They will be under the direction of Prof. Raymond Koch of the music department of Drury College.

The choir sustains the music of the chapel service every Tuesday, and sings the traditional Christmas and Easter vespers in Stone Chapel, preceding the holidays. Each year they appear in the Lenten noon-day service held by the Ministerial Alliance of Springfield. They have been invited to participate in the college's annual all-student "State of the Union," which will take place on Friday, April 13.

Buffalo, Warsaw and Jefferson City will see their hosts on the same day they appear here, ending with the special music for the evening session of the State Convention of the Disciples of Christ, held in the Jefferson City Junior College auditorium. All concerts are open to the public.

In his prepared speech Carpenter devoted 13 pages to the national agricultural picture and to the Missouri political situation. In his conclusion, he said there was a possibility that bossism might return to the Democratic party if the voters are not wary.

He said a return of the party to "the Pendergast-Nacy bossism regime" would mean "a return to machine politics and bossism, special privileges, favoritism, exploitation for personal power, and as a result a Democratic party that cannot represent you and me—the people."

At no point did Carpenter refer to his primary election opponent, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair Jr. Blair has the announced backing of James Pendergast, heading a Jackson County Democratic faction, and R. R. Nacy, Jefferson City banker and former state Democratic chairman.

"The thinking voters of the state will not permit their officials to be handpicked by political bosses Nacy and Pendergast, but will make up their own minds," Carpenter said.

Royal Ambassadors Will Hold Convention In Sedalia Next Year

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31 (AP)—Charles Clemens, 17, of Nevada was elected ambassador in chief of the Royal Ambassadors today. He succeeds Don Northway of Willow Springs in the top position of the state Baptist youth organization.

Other officers elected at the conclusion of the annual convention included: Larry Elan of Kansas City, assistant chief ambassador; Ed Burkholts of Springfield, recorder and Charles Helm of St. Louis, Steward.

The group agreed to hold its 1957 convention, the third for the organization, in Sedalia. Some 1,800 attended the sessions here.

Chillicothe Man Held For Impersonating FBI Agent at Bank

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Charles A. Hart, 46, native of Chillicothe, Mo., probably will be tried here in federal court on a charge of impersonating an FBI agent.

Hart was arrested in Bradford, Pa. He is accused of posing as an FBI agent while opening a bank account with a worthless check for $957.

Soviets Nearer Acceptance Of Ike's 'Open Skies' Plan

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—Soviet proposals that Russia and the United States reduce their armed forces to 1½ million men almost immediately were received with reserve by United States experts here tonight.

The Russian proposals on disarmament, made to the five-power U.N. disarmament conference here Wednesday, were outlined publicly by the Soviet news agency Tass today.

Two points stood out in the Soviet proposal. It appeared to go a long way toward accepting President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan of aerial inspection to curb armament, and it offered for the first time to postpone for future negotiation a limitation of atomic and thermonuclear weapons—two demands which always have been in the forefront of Russian papers on disarmament.

As a first step, the Russians proposed a three-months freeze on arms and armaments at the Dec. 31, 1955 level. Then would come a gradual reduction by 1958 to at least 1½ million men each by the United States and Russia.

The United States regards the proposed maximum as too low in the present state of international relations, but is prepared to argue the point at discussions of the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee which resume next Tuesday.

Russia also suggested that Red China, not a party to present discussions in London, also restrict its armed forces to 1½ million men and that maximums of 650,000 men be assigned to Great Britain and France. These figures also appear unsatisfactory to the United States, under present circumstances, authoritative sources said tonight.

The Soviet attitude toward atomic weapons represented an about-face. For 10 years Russia contended that they should be limited or banned as a first step toward disarmament, and that conventional weapons should be left for later stages in a world disarmament program.

The American attitude, already tabled as a definite proposal, is that Russia and the United States

One Person Hurt As Car Topples East Of Dresden

One man was injured, but not seriously, in a one-car accident just east of Dresden on U.S. Highway 50 about 5:30 p.m. Saturday, when the vehicle overturned.

Otis Jones, 105 East Cooper, a passenger in a car driven by S/Sgt. Clarence L. Benton, Whitehall Air Force Base, both Negroes, suffered a sprained left shoulder and bruises.

S/Sgt. Benton was driving a 1955 Mercury sedan and headed toward Sedalia when the accident occurred. He told Trooper Pete Stohr and Trooper Robert Stockell he went into the curve a little too fast and the car started skidding on the wet pavement.

The car left the highway about 300 feet east of the curve, traveling 100 yards on the left side of the highway and 200 yards along a slight ditch along the shoulder and flipped on its top at the culvert at the gravel road which goes north to the Funk Flying Service Airport.

The body of the car was badly wrecked, the windshield knocked out, the right front door twisted nearly off and the rear left door damaged. The top of the car was also crushed in.

Jones was brought to Sedalia by a passing motorist and taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. A. R. Maddox rendered medical attention and had an x-ray picture taken of the injured shoulder.

The car was towed to the Chamberlain Service Garage.

Benton County Jury Finds Holley Martin Not Guilty of Murder

Holley Martin, Warsaw, was acquitted of murder by a Benton County jury Friday night.

The charges resulted from a shooting that allegedly took place in Martin's home on the night of Oct. 21, 1955. In the shooting, Harold Thurman, was shot and a 14-year-old stepson of Martin was wounded. Charles D. Culbert, the stepson, was reportedly wounded in a scuffle with Martin over a revolver.

Martin testified he fired in self defense and in defense of his home. It was brought out in testimony that Thurman insisted on dating a daughter of Martin and that this led to a fatal argument.

The jury returned their verdict of not guilty at 11 p.m. Friday night after 45 minutes deliberation.

cut their armed forces to 2½ million men each.

The American negotiators also hold firmly to the view that, in whatever plan ultimately adopted, there must be mutual inspections and an effective control organization.

French Kill 130 Rebels In Algeria

70 Nationalists Captured During Past 24 Hours

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 31 (AP)—Mobile army patrols, many carried by helicopters, killed 130 rebel nationalists in the past 24 hours. French military authorities estimated today.

Another 70 nationalists were reported captured.

French troops, beefed up by reinforcements from the homeland, stepped up the pressure in all centers of rebel strength.

Terrorists acts also were reported, including the murder of two European farmers near Palestro.

Although reinforcements continued to arrive in Algeria, French Resident Minister Robert Lacoste took a trip to Paris to renew requests for still more troops.

Lacoste's request for 100,000 more soldiers, if answered, would bring French strength in all of North Africa to about 500,000 men, at least two-thirds of whom would be in Algeria.

Premier Guy Mollet was to confer with Lacoste on the possible recall of reservists to the colors.

Further Steps In Sweet Springs Hospital Move

At Sweet Springs a citizens group of nine has been named to promote the establishment of a hospital there. It was formed into a board to conduct a drive for finances. Its members are:

Dr. H. J. King, W. O. Whisitt, Herbert Schelp, Harold Hollrah, James Meyer, Herbert Dierking, Lester Turner, Lloyd Noel and Richard Wall. Dr. King was appointed to serve as chairman until the group can meet and select its officers.

This board of directors will have to form a corporation, work out details on construction of building and all other details prior to the election of a permanent board of directors. Actually this temporary board of directors will serve until the hospital stockholders are able to meet to form their own board of directors and all stocks sold and the goal realized.

The board made a trip to Windsor to study construction of the hospital there and conferred with personnel and the director of the hospital.

The fund raising campaign director has been contacted and indicated that he would be at Sweet Springs either the middle of April or May 1, to start the campaign rolling.

Young Woman Fatally Hurt In Car Accident

BRANSON, Mo., March 31 (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Ann Ayres, 19, of Branson and Hutchinson, Kan., was fatally injured early today in a car accident near here.

The car, driven by Tom Bill Cox, 19, left Highway 160 on a curve across Lake Taneycomo from Branson and plowed into a bluff. Mrs. Ayres died an hour later.

Cox and the woman's husband, Bobby Ayres, 18, were reported in a critical condition at a hospital here. Both suffered skull fractures.

Stories of Easter—8

Mary Magdalene-Learned She Regained a Living God

(Steadfast women followers of Jesus stayed with Him until the end, after the peril of arrest drove the men into hiding. This, eighth and last of the Easter Week series, is about the women, especially one of them.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Newsfeatures

The city slept. A slender, dark-haired woman hurried through the silent streets, past the shuttered stalls of merchants and craftsmen, on to the city's edge and into a garden of cedars and blooming crocus.

The path led to an open tomb. Mary Magdalene, clutching a packet, peered nervously inside. She caught her breath. It was empty. She drew back, shaken. The grave gaped dark and eerie in the gray-dawn stillness.

Just then, overhead, the first burst of sunlight flooded the tree-tops.

Pale and tense, Mary Magdalene turned and ran frantically back into the city, stumbling over logs and stones, through the waking city, numb to the vendors' cries, the smell of baking loaves, on to the apostles' house.

To Peter and John, she exclaimed: "They have taken away the Lord!"

Together the three of them raced back to the place, John dashing ahead. But at the tomb, he waited, giving precedence to Peter to enter first. Only the burial linens, carefully folded, remained.

Mystified and at a loss for an explanation, the apostles gave up and went home. But Mary Magdalene remained, standing outside the deserted tomb, torn with apprehensions, weeping inconsolably.

Always at the extreme, pivotal moments of Jesus' time, it seemed that women, and often almost no one else, held fast to Him.

It was that way at the cross, and again now, at the weirdly vacated tomb. Though the men could walk away, Mary Magdalene could not. Perturbed and desolate, her womanly intuition held her at the place where He had lain.

In nearly all Jesus' journeys, from town to town, the women were there, hovering loyally in the background, ministering to Him—cooking, weaving, listening, to Him—serving His last supper.

There was Joanna, and Salome, and Mary, the wife of Herod's steward, and Martha, the bustling, efficient hostess, and her sister, Mary of Bethany, a dreamy girl who neglected her work to hang on Jesus' words, and many others.

They came from all levels. Mary Magdalene knew keenly how they felt, especially those with bitter pasts. They were bound to Him by His gentle deeds and words of encouragement and sympathy and understanding.

Such graciousness was little known in those days of harsh judgments and arbitrary condemnation, when prisoners were made slaves, children often exposed to prostitution, and a misstep marked a woman forever.

But Jesus gave hope—a new start! Like the sobbing street girl who came while Jesus dined at the Pharisee's house. She anointed Him, abjectly washed His feet with tears, wiped them with her hair, kissed them.

The rigidly legalistic host had been aghast, shocked that Jesus would let this sinner, this tainted woman, even touch Him. But Jesus said that those who are forgiven the most, love the most.

Mary Magdalene, herself a penitent whom Jesus had reclaimed from the devil, had that kind of love, a great, constant, never-fading glow of gratitude for what He had done, for the winging, new hope He had given.

There was that time at the temple, glimmering in memory like a jewel in a dark room. The Pharisees, those strict ritualists, thought they had a trap for Jesus. This woman, they said, was caught in adultery! The law says: Stone her to death!

She had stood there, trembling and terrified.

Jesus, His face brooding and pitying, stooped down, His finger tracing in the sand. "Him that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone." Slowly, shamefacedly, the accusers withdrew and walked silently away.

Tears coursed her cheeks, smearing her Kohl-painted eyelids.

"Woman," Jesus said, "where are thy accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?"

She swallowed, trying to speak.

"No man . . . Lord."

"Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more."

It was terrible, beautiful, unforgettable, like a cloud lifting, like chains loosed, like a new life beginning. But it was Jesus' way . . .

" . . . Joy shall be in heaven over one person that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons . . . Condemn not and ye shall not be condemned; forgive and ye shall be forgiven."

So now, three days after Jesus was crucified, Mary Magdalene, distraught and forlorn, lingered outside the tomb, crying. With a feeling of futility, she looked inside again. A new sight startled her.

Two men, in shimmering, silken white, sat at either end of the crypt-stone. Angels! One said, "Woman, why weepest thou?"

"Because," she gasped, "they have taken away my Lord and I know not where they have laid Him!"

At that moment, someone strode up from behind her. She whirled as He repeated the question, "Woman, why weepest thou? Whom do you seek?"

It was the gardener, of course! Her thoughts spinning, hardly looking at Him, her words tumbled out, "Sir, if Thou hast borne Him hence, tell me where Thou hast laid Him and I will take Him away."

The man smiled tolerantly, "Mary."

Her eyes whipped up to His face, and her world stood still. "Master!"

It was He! The Lord, risen! Alive again, walking the earth, with His goodness and gentleness and love for all. Her Savior! Her life, regained!

"Touch Me, not," Jesus said softly, "for I am not yet ascended unto the Father, but go unto My brethren, and say to them that I ascend unto My Father and your Father, and My God and your God."

Mary went, her feet flying, her heart on wings, knowing now that Jesus would never die, that He is with us always, even unto the end of the world.

- Because, since the 1955-56 one-year levy is no longer in force, no money is now provided for operating schools beyond the $1.00 Constitutional provision.
- To provide the facilities necessary to serve our large and growing enrollment.
- To continue high AAA school rating and full recognition by state and national educational organizations. Low rated schools cause a decline in property valuation.
- Because unless the levy receives a majority vote, school income will be reduced so drastically that only a curtailed 7-month school term can be offered our young people in 1956-57. We must not let this happen.
- To enable our schools to meet the higher operating expenses caused by the rise in over-all prices during the past ten years or more.

• BECAUSE....

You know in your heart that schools are indispensable . . . that Sedalia's schools are operated on a low tax dollar because Sedalia's assessed valuation is low, but that even with the present tax money, our schools are equal of any—and that a competent, conscientious administration of school affairs has made all this possible at a cost that is considerably below the average cost in other communities.

WHAT IS THE PROPOSED LEVY?

The proposed School Levy to be submitted to Sedalia Voters on April 3rd, will provide revenue for employment of additional needed teachers, and for adequate salaries for present teachers.

The proposed levy would make the total school tax rate for next year as follows:

- $1.00 Levied by Board.
- .20 Present rate—Levied by Board on sinking and interest on present indebtedness of $414,000.00.
- 1.10 Proposed for our approval at the April election. This is a decrease of 15c per hundred from our present rate.
$2.30 Total tax rate for 1956-57.
$2.45 Present tax rate.

Public Library Notes—

Library Has Special Corner For Garden and Conservation

There is a very important corner for those planning their first garden, landscaping their new home, or even for those with gardens of many years of building, for who ever knows all the answers in growing flowers, shrubs and trees?

This corner is in the southwest part of the reading room of the public library and is known as the Garden Center. Here are shelves of books that are not just for the Garden Club members but for everyone and here, too, may be found books of interest to men and boys, for in this corner is the Conservation magazine and the booklet, "Whirring Wings," which is the story of the quail.

The Garden Center was started last year and there is a world of information in the books, magazines, and papers that may be found on the shelves. They are not to be taken out of the building but they may be read right there and the information needed jotted down. There is an index which may be found in a large notebook on the Garden Center shelf in which a list of books on gardening that may be checked out at the library desk like all other books.

New books that have been added to the Garden Center this spring by Sedalia Garden Clubs are "A Field Guide to the Birds," which is a standard book for field identification by Roger Peterson;

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilkerson, Kansas City, spent the weekend with Otto Zimmerschied.

Arthur Linss, Millstadt, Ill., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Balke. Mrs. Linss returned to Illinois after spending two weeks with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wood and Mrs. Emma Viebrock, Kansas City, and Mrs. Sidney Blood, Medford, Ore., spent the weekend with Cole Camp relatives.

E. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Gerken, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Harms and daughter.

James Elwell Returns From Navy Maneuvers

James M. Elwell, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Elwell, Sweet Springs, is scheduled to return to Norfolk, Va., March 30 aboard the Atlantic Fleet heavy cruiser USS Des Moines after completing exercises with Operation Springboard in the Caribbean.

The Des Moines conducted competitive gunnery, operations and engineering exercises.

Ports of call included San Juan, P.R., and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. J. W. Boger, who was then Council president, is on the Garden Center shelf, as is also "Missouri Wild Flowers" for all interested in conserving wild flowers.

"The First 20 Years" covering history from 1929-1949 of the National and State Garden Clubs Incorporated put on the book shelf by Mrs. George L. Dryden, Garden Center chairman.

Mrs. Boger has given a $15 book, one of the most interesting and beautiful additions to the Garden Center, "Conway's Treasure of Flower Arrangements." This beautiful volume has 300 dazzling arrangements which enthrall as well as instruct all followers of flower arrangements. This wonderful book was presented to the Garden Center by Mrs. J. W. Boger and dedicated to Club 9 of the Sedalia Garden Clubs. Mrs. Boger has a special interest in Garden Center which was started while she was president of the Sedalia Garden Club Council, 1953-1955.

This is the time of year to seek knowledge on planting, pruning, fertilizing, growing flowers and shrubs, and there are answers to all questions, ideas, too, that will help in the yards and gardens and benefit those who are entering the "Yard of the Month Contest." If you can't find what you want in the Garden Center, there is another bookcase full of good information in the library basement, where an overflow of older books may be read.

"IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS"

Monday Evening at 8:00 p.m. at

THE LITTLE THEATRE

SMITH-COTTON HIGH SCHOOL

"It's Everybody's Business," an animated, Technicolor sound film representing one of the greatest efforts ever made by business to tell the story of the American competitive enterprise system, will be shown at 8:00 p.m. at the Little Theatre. The Republican Club is distributing this motion picture in Sedalia.

Aimed at all age groups and occupations, the film illustrates how the freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution have enabled American business and labor to outproduce the world. In simple, often humorous terms, it helps to correct general misunderstandings about business by explaining how profits and individual investment create jobs; how competition keeps values high and prices low; how advertising benefits everyone; and how government should function in a free economy to the best interests of everyone.

The film is part of a program of economic education which the Republican Club is sponsoring in Sedalia.

"It's Everybody's Business" was produced for the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S. in cooperation with the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., and was written and produced by John Sutherland.

The film is intended for all audiences—junior and senior high schools, college and adult education classes, Parent-Teachers Associations, labor unions, veterans' organizations, farm and employee groups, fraternal organizations, women's clubs, service clubs, civic organizations and religious groups. The film runs 22 minutes.

Special Easter services will be held at the East Broadway Christian Church both morning and evening.

Involved were a 1952 Chevrolet driven South on Lamine by Miss Vivian Deckard, 1003 South Osage, and a 1948 Chevrolet Tay-stee bread truck driven east on Fifth by William Nave, 1625 West 16th.

The right side of the sedan was smashed in and the car was said to be demolished while the front end of the truck was badly wrecked.

Miss Deckard complained of bruises.

Damage resulted to two automobiles in collision at Seventh and Kentucky about 1:15 p. m. Saturday. No injuries were reported.

Children Show Preference For Horse and Dog Stories

Boys and girls of the Boonslick Regional Library area show a decided preference for animal stories with horses and dogs heading the list. Second choice for middle and upper grade children seems to be biography. At Mt. Sinai School in northern Cooper County, mysteries were mentioned most often with horses coming in second. However, somebody preferred a Davy Crockett biography. Locust Grove School chose animal stories for almost all their favorite books. Carefully and beautifully written ballots showed that they had put a great deal of thought on the matter. The smaller children at Pilot Grove Public School voted for such a great variety of books that no conclusions can be reached unless it is that they like all types of books. "Ellen Tebbets" by Beverly Cleary and "Gennie and Geneva" by Catherine Wooley were mentioned among the favorites. These indicate that two children at least enjoyed humorous books.

Tanglenook School children list "Tom Sawyer" and biographies of Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett as favorites. "Brave Cowboy Bill" and "Three Little Pigs" were voted as favorites by the youngest children. "Cowboy Small" and "Patsy and the Pup" were nominated by the smaller children at Walnut School. Monna Adams, grade 8, liked Farley's "Black Stallion" best and Mary Belle Sigman, grade 7, chose "Grey Chieftan."

From all indications the second graders at Green Ridge decided that the book they happened to be reading was best of all. Printed ballots must have required much help from the teacher, Miss Gayle Kendrick for they were all properly spelled and quite readable. "Down Along Apple Market Street" by Hill two two votes — Danny Isel and Rose Marie — and "Pete the Crow" was chosen by Clyde Richards and Gladys Naylor. All the rest of the room suggested separate titles.

The first grade at Prairie Home School sent a list of twenty favorite books. Among those were Indian books, Bible stories, "Davy Crockett," "Johnny Apple Leaf" and "The Horse with the High Heeled Shoes." Almost all the boys and girls throughout the region enjoy reading and have indicated a genuine interest in certain types of books. Other favorite titles will be discussed later.

Invitation Surpasses Chiding

Increased attendance at Palm Sunday church services afforded clergymen an opportunity to chide many who infrequently go to church except on Holy Week occasions, Christmas, or to attend a funeral.

The theme of some Easter sermons will be the same.

This may be all to good purpose but much depends on the manner in which such chiding is done. The prospect of the preacher putting on the gloves and lambasting the poor attenders sometimes makes the 100 percenters too prideful, scares the back-sliders to back-slide some more and actually keeps others from entering the church at all on special occasions because they know there's going to be a blast from the pulpit.

We heard a powerful sermon Palm Sunday in which the rector noted that pews were insufficient, chairs (200) had to be brought in, and there was standing room only. He hoped it could be that way every Sunday, which he knew it wouldn't be. However, the welcome message he extended, the encouraging promise of spiritual uplifting which is found within the church was so vividly portrayed by specific examples of men and women restored to Christ that there can be no doubt his verbal magnetism reached into the depths of many souls and attracted them to return to church another time.

There can be some soul-saving done among those extras at Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday services if they can be reached. There may be a few curious or matter-of-fact individuals who are attracted to church on these special days. So were there many curious spectators among the crowds that lined the road that day of the beginning of that dramatic week when Christ made his triumphal entry into Jerusalem. So were there many present that day a minority in the mob demanded Christ's blood on the cross. But there were many, too, in the throng who were opposed to violence and went away in sorrow, persuaded by Jesus' behavior that a great injustice was being done an innocent and Godly man. Those people were reached by Christ's few and final words.

People who seldom come in contact with the Savior's words today can be reached by his modern disciples' adherence to the Gospel and the extension of a friendly welcome when people come to church on special days, of which this Easter is one.

A kindly invitation to "come on in" is much more persuasive than using the verbal cudgel.

Benson Boosts Dried Milk With a Queen

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Benson and the American Dairy Association have fallen out over a queen.

She is sparkling Ruth Marie Peterson, 20-year-old Minnesota milkmaid who was picked as Dairy Queen of 1956.

When Miss Peterson was first crowned, she was not given a very enthusiastic welcome by Ezra Taft Benson. The Secretary of Agriculture is a kindly gentleman, but at first he refused to pose for a photograph with Queen Peterson in which both were to drink from the same glass of milk with two separate straws. The Secretary of Agriculture thought this was not quite sanitary and photographers were told to leave.

But suddenly they were called back. Benson had been reminded by his staff that if word leaked out that he had spurned a photograph with such a wholesome and healthy person as Ruth Marie Peterson, it wouldn't look good in the newspapers. So the photograph was snapped.

From that time on, Benson and staff have been enthusiastic about Queen Peterson and are sending her on a tour of Japan next month to boost American milk. The idea is to persuade the Japanese to drink more milk from U.S. surplus.

This, however, is where the American Dairy Association parted company with Queen Peterson and Benson. For what Miss Peterson will be boosting in Japan is Benson's dried milk. And what the American Dairy Association is boosting is fresh milk—straight out of the cow.

To harried, harassed Ezra Taft Benson, however, milk is milk. His warehouses are overflowing with it—in powdered form. So, to whet foreign appetites for U.S. surplus milk, he wanted to expand Queen Peterson's trip not only to Japan, but to Spain, Italy and Colombia. The Minnesota branch of the Dairy Association, proud of Queen Peterson, put up $2,500 for her Japanese tour. The Agriculture Department is putting up the money for Colombia. But the trips to Spain and Italy have been called off. The parent ADA just wouldn't cooperate.

Kefauver Mends a Fence

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was called on the telephone in the Senate Democratic cloakroom. It was Senator Kefauver of Tennessee calling him from California, shortly after the bitter battle over Minnesota delegates in which Kefauver won a terrific victory. Humphrey went to the telephone, talked to his Tennessee colleague, hung up the receiver, came out of the phone booth.

"You can't help but like that guy," he remarked to nearby senators. "I don't know what he's got, but he's got something."

"He's got vote appeal," remarked one senator. "Yes," said Senator Russell of Georgia. "I learned that in Florida."

Pessimistic Senator

Sen. Bill Jenner, Indiana Republican, is one of those shrewd, instinctive politicians who come out of the backwoods with an acute sense of smell regarding the public mood.

Two weeks before the 1956 Indiana municipal elections, Jenner predicted to a fellow Hoosier: "We're going to get the darndest licking we took since 1930," he said. "We're going to lose every city but Fort Wayne."

True enough, the Republicans lost the mayors of 70 Indiana cities—all the important cities except Fort Wayne.

The other day, Jenner was accosted by the same Hoosier friend. He wasn't any more optimistic about the GOP political future. Already he has gone on record publicly that his colleague, Sen. Homer Capehart, Republican, will lose to ex-Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, Democrat.

"I've been pleading and pounding the table at the national committee," continued Jenner, "but Len Hall just looks at me and says, 'The polls show Ike is far ahead and that we're going to win by putting Ike on television where he'll talk peace, prosperity, and progress.'"

"Don't pay any attention to these polls," opined Jenner. "Ike ain't popular back home any more. The Democrats are likely to win by default. The administration ain't doin' a darn thing to help the farmer, and the Midwest is gone. Just write that down in your book."

"Len used to be a good politician," continued Jenner. "But he talks like he's been hypnotized by those guys from Madison Avenue. If Ike starts acting instead of preaching and gets out and talks to the people, he can win."

Generous Congressman

Congressman John Baldwin, California Republican, has tucked a neat little provision into the $25,000,000 superhighway bill that will cost the taxpayers about half a billion dollars.

The Baldwin amendment would pay 2 per cent of the $25,000,000 to utility companies in order to move their telephone-electric light poles and their water mains.

Under utility contracts with most states, the telephone, electric light, and water companies are required to move their poles and lines in case a highway is widened. This is in return for the fact that the utilities are given free right of way by the state alongside roads.

The federal government, however, will be more generous than the states if Congressman Baldwin has his way. It will ladle out about half a billion dollars to electric, telephone, water and gas utilities.

Put a little vinegar in any new frying pan and bring it to a boil. This process will prevent food from sticking.

There are as many as 750,000 tiny air cells in an ordinary bottle cork.

Teenagers Need Stern Rules To Ease Adolescent Cares

Shepherding children through adolescence was never duck soup. But it is a lot more difficult now that adolescents have become "Teen-agers"—with a capital T—and have been made to feel they are a privileged group with the right to demand everything and give nothing in return.

One mother of a 17-year-old son and a 14-year-old daughter writes: "My two teen-agers feel they should be free to do anything they like. They do not think I have any right to tell them when they should come home or to say anything about their choice of friends or where they go."

"My son goes and comes as he pleases and is rarely home in time for a meal with the family."

"My daughter thinks she is old enough to date juniors and seniors and resents my efforts to have her home at a reasonable hour when she does go out."

"My husband works nights so the whole problem of discipline is on my shoulders. I am just an unpaid housekeeper and I am supposed to go around with a smile on my face, pick up after these teen-agers, ask no questions about where they are going or when they will be home."

You aren't just an unpaid housekeeper. So quit thinking of yourself in such abject terms.

You are a mother with the retailed. But they'll settle down in short order once they realize you mean what you say.

Odds and Ends

USUALLY SHE doesn't wear a hat anywhere except to church but recently when she showed up at her club dinner meeting here she was in a hat.

"That is a pretty hat," someone said.

She giggled. "This is my $15 hat." Then she went on to explain that she bought the hat over seven years ago—when she was married. That was the reason she paid $15 for it. She wanted something expensive and that was the most expensive hat she ever bought in her life.

The hat was black with a bunch of feathers in several blending colors. The feathers were about six inches long. When she got the

Bunny And The Cat

Ann's little cat is as black as ink. Her little nose is so soft and pink. She loves Ann's dog that is all black, too. And the funny things those two can do; She likes the puppy that lives next door.

There's a fence between she just climbs o'er, Then they romp and play, they tumble and roll,

Both of them just as black as coal. She plays with a cat, and he's like a cat.

All of the animals she has met. Are very black and they walk like her.

Of course, the dogs bark instead of purr, But there's not much difference as she can see.

Says Ann's little cat, "They're a lot like me." Two weeks before Easter Ann's little cat

There all alone in the alley sat When hopping along the alley came

An animal Blacky couldn't name, It didn't run like her and the pups

It moved with a series of downs and ups, Looked like it was sitting then 'twould hop

A little ways and suddenly stop; It wiggled its nose in the oddest way.

She wasn't right sure, was it tan or gray? But anyway, it just wasn't black

And it had the queerest tail in the back, Its ears were so long and stood right up

It wasn't a cat and wasn't a pup. Kitty was scared, she hid back of the shed

And now and then would stick out her head, The rabbit thought, too, the cat looked funny.

She didn't look a thing like a bunny. So hoppin' he went in another direction

For he was out on pre-Easter inspection To see where to put nests for colored eggs

And away he went on his hoppin' legs; Back would he glance — so frightened was he

Was he being chased? He just had to see, Was that cat comin' as onward he fled

But kitty watched from back of the shed, She was so happy when bunny was gone

Bunny was breathless but hoppin' right on, Yet, as he went, he watched for the best

Place in each yard for a big Easter nest, That night before Easter he was afraid

But all of those nests had to be made He started out with eggs colored bright

And glad was he for the moon that night, From nest to nest he went on his way

But out of the shadows did he stay, He didn't go near the dark of the shed

'Cause how'd he know the cat was in bed; That funny black thing that he had seen

With a long of tail and eyes so green, He filled all the nests as he had planned

And was glad to get back to Bunniland. Hazel N. Lang.

As Sedalia Sees It—

Schools Are Now Encouraging Boys to Learn How to Cook

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Schools are encouraging boys to learn how to cook!

Last year 26,400 high school boys elected homemaking classes. This seems to be a nationwide invasion by gangling teenagers in blue jeans and T-shirts who don't mind putting on an apron.

A survey by the American Home Economics Association reveals these are not boys with the urge to be professional cooks. They just think the classes are "mighty interesting and fun." Privately, they even admit what they're learning in homemaking classes could be pretty useful around the house when they get a home of their own. Sometimes the aroused interest carries on into college years and they decide to make a career as teachers of Home Economics.

This working alongside the girls in food and other homemaking classes at first worried some school authorities that the result might mean an increase of young marriages. In fact the University of Nebraska high school separates the boys and girls. It was found all-boy homemaking classes "are best." But here in Washington, boys who elect food classes work right along side the girls, which seems to satisfy everybody, including the teachers. In Washington, too, a semester of nutrition is required of every boy.

Miss Hazel Anderson, a teacher of boys' homemaking classes at the University of Nebraska high school says: "Home making classes are doing a real job of teaching boys, as well as girls, the basic knowledge and skills they will need when they start homemaking on their own and this is good."

Dr. Jordan Answers—

Sympathy In Doctor's Deeds; Retains Balanced Judgment

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Sympathy, perhaps, is the most civilized of all human emotions, but it is sometimes hard to evaluate, I think.

Q — I am shocked and disillusioned about my doctor. Recently when my mother was sick and passed away I did not get a word of sympathy although I think he did everything for my mother he could. Are all doctors lacking in human kindness? — Mrs. J. R.

A — I am sorry you did not get the words of sympathy from your mother's doctor which you wanted since this probably would have helped you a great deal. But I cannot admit that doctors are a hard-boiled lot. The fact that you say the doctor gave your mother hat the feathers, she said, were about 12 or 13 inches long, but they always seemed in the way. When she was going some place she would always have her hat on just so and by the time she got in the car the hat would be knocked sideways and she would have to put it on again. So, she decided she would cut a little off the feathers. This she did. Then she would go some place and sit in front of somebody. She knew the feathers must bother them and she would be conscious of those feathers all during the meeting so when she got home she would cut a little more off. Things kept happening with her feathers and she kept cutting them off until now she thought they were just about right. She has a Cadillac and the feathers just seemed to get along fine with the Cadillac but she was wondering that night if maybe she shouldn't trim them just a little more. When she got in the Buick that her husband often drives, especially in snowy weather because he has tire chains for it, she knocked the hat off again. Maybe she should do a little more trimming so she can ride in any kind of a car—after all, a hat that just fits a Cadillac isn't very practical.—H.L.

IF ANYBODY HAD a meeting, a party, a wedding, or any kind of an affair on March 3, and a woman they expected didn't show up, she had a good reason. She couldn't remember where she was supposed to go.

Sometime in the month of February, or maybe it was a little earlier, she circled March 3, on her calendar. It was something she considered very important and in her subconscious mind she kept thinking of that date.

When February ended and she turned her calendar there it was circled as big as you please — but why? She worked and worried about it, she couldn't sleep at night for trying to figure out where she was supposed to go or what she was supposed to do. She checked with her family to see if there was a family gathering of some kind, she asked her friends if they knew what could be happening on March 3, but everybody else looked at just blank.

It is a little late for a New Year's resolution but March 1, she made one. From now on, no more just circling of dates, she is going to write on the calendar why she should remember the dates she circles. She certainly doesn't intend to miss anything else as she had to do on March 3. — H. L.

VISITING IN THE home of her grandmother one day, a tiny girl and her father were in the living room of the home while her mother and grandmother were in the kitchen. The grandmother has a very good dog that isn't used to being teased, but the father was teasing it by blowing smoke in the dog's face. The dog didn't like it and was barking.

Thinking it was the little girl teasing the dog and making him bark, the mother called to her and said, "Jamie Lou, quit that."

A second later Jamie Lou was at the door of the kitchen to explain, "I wasn't barking. Mommy," she said, "that was the dog."—H.L.

Prosecuting Attorney To Seek Grand Jury In St. Louis Housing

ST. LOUIS — Edward W. Garnholz, St. Louis County prosecuting attorney, says he will seek a grand jury investigation on whether 950 family units in the Jefferson Barracks housing project should be vacated as fire hazards.

Garnholz made the statement Friday after the Missouri Bureau of Fire Inspection reported certain conditions surrounding liquid petroleum installations at the project needed correction.

The prosecutor said if the corrections can be made "the buildings may continue to be occupied while plans go ahead for construction of 600 new public housing units" but if alterations are impossible the project should be vacated.

Among recommendations made were that propane tanks were too close to residential buildings and large storage tanks should be grounded as precaution against lightning and other electrical charges.

Many 'Old Timers' To Be On Hand—

All Top Names In Golf Will Vie In Masters Tourney Thursday

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31—(AP)—The Masters tournament, the only major golf event in which the course is more important than the players, takes on the respectability of age in addition to its other undebatable attractions next week.

The Masters, conceived in 1934 as something superior to the regular weekly events on the winter circuit, will be played for the 20th time on the massive Augusta National course Thursday through Sunday. The Masters isn't old as major tournaments go. It was interrupted during the World War II years of 1943-45 and the 20th playing marks its arrival at maturity.

Most of the winter tournament winners, many of the great names of American golf and one notable foreign entry are included in the relatively small field. Henry Cotton, three-times British open champion, already is on hand for his second attempt to master Augusta National. He played here in 1948 and finished well out of the money.

At 49, Cotton hardly figures to be a title contender, any more than Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, Byron Nelson, Clark Evans and other veterans who never miss the Masters. But the presence of these former greats and other old-timers like Fred McLeod, Billy Burke, Tony Manero, Paul Runyan, Ralph Guldahl, Craig Wood and (as a spectator) Bobby Jones, lends a unique atmosphere to this colorful tournament. They play a few rounds over the deceptively pleasant course and cut up a few touches with old friends.

The spacious, flower-decked Augusta National course, built on the site of an old nursery in Georgia's red clay hills, presents an unchanging challenge that few players have been able to meet in 19 tournaments. It can be stretched out to 6,950 yards but usually plays at about 6,800 for the tournament. Its fairways and greens are about twice as big as those of an ordinary fair and there isn't an unfair trap or bit of overgrown rough.

Tournament chairman Cliff Roberts calls it "a strategic rather than a punishing golf course" and points out that its 72-hole par of 288 has been beaten only 83 times in 19 tournaments.

But the U. S. Golf Assn. may have tossed a curve at par this year and there's talk that Ben Hogan's Masters record of 274 may be challenged. A change in the rules of golf this year eliminated the two-stroke penalty for hitting an unattended flag stick and permit the man playing the shot to decide whether the flag shall be removed. The touring pros were quick to take advantage of that. When they have difficulty with a putt—and there are plenty of them on Augusta's huge greens—they leave the stick in the hole and hope it will stop a few putts.

Word from Florida is that Hogan, who "retired" after last year's open championship, has been practicing intensively and again is the man to beat in the Masters. Hogan has won twice and lost one title playoff to Sam Snead in the past five years, and when he's in form he plays the course like private property.

Winner To Get 5 Places On Squad—Top Cage Talent Assembles For Olympic Finals In KC

KANSAS CITY, March 31—(AP)—The top talent in college, armed forces and industrial basketball began assembling in Kansas City this weekend for the Olympic finals opening Monday night.

In the three-night affair will be the Phillips Oilers, eight-time titlist of the National Industrial Basketball League; Buchanan Bakers, National AAU kingly from Seattle, Wash.; the College All-Stars and the Armed Forces squad.

Two games will be played each night. The winner captures at least five places on the 12-man team representing the United States in the Olympics at Melbourne, next November.

A possible seven members may be chosen from the tourney winner. The Olympic Basketball Committee selects the remaining five to seven players.

Phillips, a perennial favorite, is top seeded. Despite a second place finish in the National AAU tournament last week, the Oilers boast a rangy, experienced lineup, with excellent reserve strength. The 66ers contributed seven players to the U. S. Olympic teams in the 1948 and 1952 games.

Expected to spark the Phillips attack will be Burdette Halderson, Chuck Darling and Bill Hougland, each a former college all-star. Halderson, a 6-8 powerhouse, broke four NIBL and three all-time Oiler scoring records this season.

The Buchanan team, boasting a record of 52-9, won the AAU crown by whipping Phillips 59-47 at Denver. The Bakers have mostly a home-grown lineup, with nine of their 14 men from the state of Washington.

Under Olympic rules, the Bakers obtained four additional players, including Dick Boushka and Terry Rand. Three of their regulars played here in 1953 as members of the Washington Huskies third-place NCAA tournament team.

San Francisco's fabulous pair, Bill Russell and K. C. Jones, make the college all-stars as a strong contender.

Bill Uhl of Dayton and Bob Burrow of Kentucky are among other all-star players. The team began drilling early this week in New York under Iowa mentor Buckie O'Connor.

Coch Bruce Drake's armed entry includes eight men from the Air force all-stars, three from the

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

The Smith-Cotton Tiger golfers began serious practice at the Countryview course the past week and left it evident that they are bound for another successful season.

Coach Howard Glavin's defending Central Missouri Conference golf champions, all returning lettermen, will be out to match the perfect record they hung up last year.

In spite of their early season stiffness, most of the squad members toured the public course in near-par figures during the first week of practice. These performances indicate an even stronger foursome of Tiger swingers will invade the S-C golf schedule this spring and will be a tough lot to beat on the links by the time their first meet comes up.

George Thomasetti, of Countryview, is elated over the increased turnout of golfers at the municipal course early this season.

Players have been converging on the course in impressive numbers in recent weeks, a participation that has cast a new light of hope on the future of Sedalia's public links.

It looks as though golf in the Sedalia area is finally beginning to fall into stride with the general advance the game has made in the U.S. in recent years.

Golf should be gaining due recognition and prominence in the local sports picture now and is certain to continue to draw enthusiastic interest at a fast pace.

Quantico Relays To Open Friday Minus Santee

QUANTICO, Va., March 31—(AP)—The nation's first major track and field carnival of the outdoor season starts here next Friday without the fellow who was supposed to be the star of the show—Wes Santee.

This sprawling Marine Corps base, 30 miles south of Washington, is the place Santee—now a Marine lieutenant—now calls home. Originally, the Quantico Relays of April 6-7 were planned largely as a showcase for the talents of the great Miller.

Now, Santee's troubles with the AAU have prompted the manager of the meet to bar him from competition against the top-flight amateurs who'll run in the relays mile-right in Santee's own back yard.

"A mighty tough decision, but there is no place here for Wes Santee," says the meet manager—Marine Lt. Wes Santee.

Santee, who's played a major role in the year or planning that has preceded the meet, thinks his absence won't dim the luster of the field of 1,000-odd athletes who will be present. The entry list shows five world record holders, nine American record holders, 15 members of the 1952 United States Olympic Team, 11 National AAU Olympic champions of 1955 and five 1955 Pan-American games winners.

After all, who could have a more apt and experienced tutor than he had?

About 400 Boys Take Little League Exams

Approximately 400 boys took their Little League physical exams at the Armory Saturday morning, but there were 150 others expected who did not appear, Dick Snow, Little League president, said these boys should go to their family doctors for examinations and secure from the doctors certificates stating the boys are in good health. These certificates are to be presented at the first try-out, the date of which will be announced later.

Olson Determined To Whip Robinson In Bout May 18

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31—(AP)—Ex-middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson wants to show people that "an old man like (Sugar Ray) Robinson can't beat me every time we get into a ring." Olson intends to revenge himself against Sugar Ray in their scheduled title bout May 18 at Los Angeles.

Of course, Bobo had no intention of ending up on the canvas when he lost his crown to Robinson by a knockout in Chicago last December.

"I was out of condition," the balding Olson said today. "Besides, I was cocky. I led with my right—and my chin—and he caught me."

What about that chin, is it glass like they say?

"Naw," said Olson. "I got knocked out a couple of times, but it won't happen again. I can beat Robinson. I know it, and this time I'm going to be ready for him."

Mizzou Bows To Aggie Baseball Squad, 9-10

STILLWATER, Okla., March 31—(AP)—Pinch-hitter Pub Williamson blasted out a two-run homer with two outs in the eighth inning today to give the Oklahoma Aggies a 10-9 baseball victory over the Missouri Tigers.

The triumph gave the Aggies an even break in the two-game series. Missouri won the opener yesterday 7-5.

Williamson's blow scored Val Dixon who had singled after the Aggies had already sent one run across the plate in the eighth. It was the only time in the game the Aggies were able to force ahead.

Jay Hankins paced the Tigers' attack with a triple and two singles in five trips. He drove in three runs.

S-C Is Runner-up To Wm. Chrisman In Indoor Meet At Fayette Saturday

By Vic Van Dyne

The William Chrisman high school track team from Independence, shovled the Smith-Cotton Tiger thinclads aside Saturday and copped the title at the Central College Indoor meet at Fayette. But the Tigers came through to take second place over some other powerful high school track teams.

William Chrisman scored 49 5/6 points for first place; Smith-Cotton, 37 1/6 for second; North Kansas City, 19 3/4, for third; Raytown, 11, for fourth; Lee's Summit, 10, for fifth; Hickman of Columbia, eight, for sixth; Mexico, five, for seventh place.

Charles "Van" Van Dyne is still running true to form and picked up 25 of the Tigers' 37 1/6 points, winning three firsts: the 60-yard low hurdles, 65-yard high hurdles, and the broad jump, and fourth in the shot put. His times on the hurdles were :08 and :08; and for the broad jump, 19 feet 10 1/2 inches, while his shotput throw was 47 6 1/2 inches.

Norris Kelley, although he placed second in the shot put, broke the Smith-Cotton high school record of 48 feet 7 3/4 inches set by himself in 1954. Kelley heaved the shot at Fayette 50 feet 6 3/4 inches, but was still short nearly three inches from the first place winner, Miller of Kansas City East who threw it 50 feet 9 3/4 inches.

Other Tigers who placed were Bob McFatricks who placed second in the half mile; Bob Spraggins and Walt Kennon who tied for fourth in the high jump; Tommy Noland and Bob Welch, who tied for fourth in the pole vault.

"Van" Van Dyne was running in the meet under a handicap of a pulled groin, which slowed him some. But he was coached closely from the sidelines by Norman James, and with a good lead in the 65-yard high hurdles, slowed down and practically walked across the finish line and still had good time.

The Tigers next meet is the State Outdoor event at the University of Missouri in Columbia which is scheduled for Saturday, April 7.

The Fayette results:
60-yd. High Hurdles—Van Dyne—S-C first; Cowstock, William Chrisman second; Mayhew, Kansas City East, third; Johnson, Raytown, fourth. Time :08.0.

65-yd. low hurdles—Van Dyne, S-C first; Budd, William Chrisman second; Johnson, Raytown, third; Winfield, Sedalia, fourth. Time :08.7.

60-yd. dash—Mills, Hickman, first; Budd, William Chrisman, second; Dale, North Kansas City, third; Griffin, Raytown, fourth. Time :06.7.

80-yd. dash—Homan, North Kansas City, first; McFatricks, S-C, second; Conroy, North Kansas City, third; Foltz, Lee Summit, fourth. Time 2:10.9.

4/5 mile relay: William Chrisman, first; Raytown, second; Lee Summit third; North Kansas City, fourth. Time 2:57.4.

Pole Vault: Kargland, Kansas City East and Coffey, William Chrisman tie for first; Crookner, Lee Summit, third; Welch S-C; Noland, S-C; Dowling, North Kansas City; Meyer Kansas City East, tie for fourth. Distance 11'6".

High Jump: Constock, William Chrisman, first; Snowden, North Kansas City, tie for second; Spraggins, S-C, Kennon, S-C; Graham, William Chrisman, tied for fourth. Distance 5'7".

Shot Put: Miller, Kansas City, East, first; Kelley, S-C, second; Shore, Kansas City East, third; Van Dyne, S-C fourth. Distance 50'9 3/4".

Jones Ready To Return With Phils Wednesday

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Willie Jones, released from the hospital after his beaming last Tuesday by Don Newcombe of Brooklyn said today he had been given a clean bill of health by the doctors. He advised Phillies manager Mayo Smith he would be ready to return to uniform next Wednesday.

The veteran Philadelphia third baseman will leave with the club when it breaks camp here next Thursday.

Jones, taking in the exhibition game between the Phillies and the Chicago White Sox, said he still felt weak and that the hearing in his left ear had been affected "about 10 per cent," but that the doctors assured him that would clear up within a few days.

"My left ear still feels clogged up but that's because there's some swelling inside," he said. "It's no longer bleeding, however."

Jones said he bore no grudge against Newcombe for the beaming and reiterated that he was certain the Dodger pitcher had not thrown at him deliberately.

Sports Scraps

SPRING weather has brought out questions. Questions if some of Sedalia Merchants would be willing to give a lift to a red hot semi-pro baseball team this season. There have been several who the ball players have contacted showing interest, and others have since said they would give it thought. Maybe Sedalia will move in to the ranks of semi-pro baseball again this year.

There have been a number of semi-pro players who have returned home from the service, several others who played pro ball but since have received their release and are back in circulation, and classed as semi-pro players. They are anxious to keep playing on a scale such as Sedalia teams played in years gone by.

With the Kansas City A's on the west and the St. Louis Cardinals on the east, more baseball talk has circulated in Sedalia than it has in years. This brings to focus the possibility that a good semi-pro aggregation should provide some off night entertainment as well as some Sunday afternoon games. The former ball players are of this opinion and want to try and organize.

Already the local boys are showing decided interest in starting a team with the following having indicated their intentions of trying out if a team is started. There is no argument after looking over the list they really mean business. Some of the boys contacted and who have shown a desire for such a team are: "Salty" Schumaker, Bobby Lane, Bill Arnold, Buddy Thomas, Joe Imhauser, Bobby Brown, Russell Gilmore, Donald Eschbacher, Marion Thomas, Bill Morgan, Billy Dey, Ralph Falls, Don Higgins, Don Broadus, George Thompson, Bus Walker, Bill McCrary, Ralph "Skip" Schulz, and a dozen or more who have not said they would play, but if such a team is started there isn't a doubt they will be out trying out.

Sedalia's got the ball club material, now the ball club will need the fan support material. Sedalia, like many other towns, has to get a sponsor or a sponsoring organization to back them financially. The chances of paying off on attendance is so uncertain that a team can't get started on further prospects of financial aid at the gate.

On the other hand the merchants are "hit" time and again for this and that and many shy away from making any promises of support. The merchant can't be blamed for this, they can't go out on a limb either. Yet there are those men in business who like baseball and would give some aid if contacted.

Anyone who would like to help these young fellows get going can contact Bobby Lane, Walker, Shoemaker or others and let it be known.

The folding of semi-pro a couple of years back, and the losing of the American Legion ball club a year ago has put a crimp in baseball in Sedalia. Ban Johnson has been holding on by the skin of its teeth, but this season looks more promising.

The Little League is providing some excellent material for such teams as the Junior Legion, if we had a team, but most certain the Babe Ruth League which is gradually growing and growing to proportions they will provide some hot material for Ban Johnson in a short time.

Then Ban Johnson is gradually losing some star ball players whom would be welcomed by the semi-pro team. Youth with a lot of spirit and that is what is coming up from these eight years old on through the years through B. J. ball.

It would be nice to be able to provide them with some semi-pro experience which in turn might result in some boy becoming another Jerry Lumpe, who graduated from Ban Johnson ball in Sedalia and Legion ball at Warsaw.

Maybe this season will be the turning point in Sedalia and the good old diamond sport will get a new lease on life.

I understand a veteran who recently was discharged from the Navy is planning to revive a good wholesome sport for us "old timers" in golf. Although he has not given permission to use his name but he has indicated he and two of his buddies plan on starting up a modern and sporty miniature golf course for Sedalia.

Miniature golf hasn't been played here for several years. The reason: One course which was started several years ago didn't provide the sporty excitement on the course as these lads plan.

No doubt there are a lot of Sedalians who do not go for the real game of golf, but would like to tour a small course for the fun of it. It can be a real interesting game and provide some good clean wholesome entertainment.

They expect to make a definite announcement within a week or ten days, as soon as they can get their heads together and find a good location.

Abe Saperstein Lashes Out At AAU Officials

NEW YORK, March 31—(AP)—A Michigan State basketball player cleared himself of AAU charges of intended professionalism today at about the same time that the coach of the Harlem Globetrotters called AAU officials "a collection of muttheaded."

The AAU ruled yesterday that five members of the New York Herald Tribune's cast in tonight's East-West charity game were ineligible because they had announced their intentions of turning professional tomorrow. Julius McCoy of Michigan State today satisfied the organization he was not turning professional.

Darrell Floyd, Furman's All-America scorer, cleared himself shortly after being banned last night. The three remaining players—Si Green of Duquesne, Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross, and Andron Sobieszczyk of DePaul, still are banned.

It was Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the Globetrotters, who applied the muttheaded label to the AAU.

Onetime Auto Racing Great, DePalma, Dies

Taken By Cancer; Set Many Records, Won 2,557 Races

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif., Mar. 31—(AP)—Ralph DePalma, pioneer auto racer who probably won more races than any other driver in history, died today of cancer at the age of 73.

DePalma, winner of the Indianapolis classic in 1915 and twice national champion in the era of Barney Oldfield and Eddie Rick-enbacker, had been ailing for less than a year.

He had been critically ill for several days. His wife Marion said today just about dawn he asked her to turn him over. As she did so, she said, he succumbed.

About four months ago his pituitary gland was removed to slow the progress of cancer which, an associate said, stemmed from an old racing injury and spread through much of his body.

DePalma estimated he had earned 1 1/2 million dollars in 27 years of racing. During that period he won 2,557 of 2,899 races—probably an all-time record. He retired from the tracks in 1934.

Since then he has worked in engineering, auto designing and public relations for automobile, aircraft and petroleum firms. Recently he had been giving sales driving lectures in public schools.

Two years ago DePalma was elected to the Racing Hall of Fame for his brilliant and daring career on the tracks and for his contribution to the racing and auto industries. He set many records in his time, attaining a speed of 149.875 m.p.h. in one of his special racers in 1920. His 500 mile Indianapolis victory was achieved in the then record average of 89.84 m.p.h.

He still holds the Indianapolis track mark for the number of laps in the lead—613.

He was injured many times, but seriously hurt only once. In 1912 his car went out of control in Milwaukee and overturned in a corn field. DePalma was impaled on a sharp stake. He was hospitalized 11 weeks. In 1910 he drove in a race with a leg in a cast from a racing crash.

In 1918 at Indianapolis, his car developed engine trouble when he had a nine-minute lead over the second car and he was only three miles from the end of the 500-mile race. DePalma and his mechanic jumped out and tried to push the car to victory. But while the crowd cheered, he lost.

Three In Tie For Azalea Open Lead

Souchak, Holscher, Littler Deadlocked With 205 Scores

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 31 — Mike Souchak winged eight birdies today for a 65 to vault into a triple tie for the 54-hole lead in the $12,500 Azalea Open golf tournament with Gene Littler, the leader each of the first two days, and Bud Holscher.

Their 205 totals left them one shot ahead of Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Souchak, former Duke University football end, who plays from Grossinger's N. Y., posted a 32-33, seven under par. Holscher, from Apple Valley, Calif., came in with a 68. Littler, from Palm Springs, Calif., after falling behind on the front nine, birdied four of the last seven holes to finish with 69.

Mayer shot a 67, missing a chance to make it a four-way tie for first place when his six-foot putt on the 18th green stopped an inch short of the cup.

Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., was alone in fifth place at 207 after a 70.

Three shots off the front end at 208 going into tomorrow's final 18 holes were Don January, Abilene, Texas; Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.; and Stan Leonard, LeChute, Canada. January had a 70, Douglas and Leonard 71, although Douglas made his the hard way, 39-32.

Santee Will Compete In Special Mile At Virginian-Pilot Relays

NORFOLK, Va., March 31 — Wes Santee, the nation's foremost miler who now is waging a legal battle against a lifetime suspension imposed by the Amateur Athletic Union, today accepted an invitation to run in a special "military mile" in the Virginian-Pilot relays here April 28.

Officials of the meet said plans calls for Santee to run against top distance runners from the armed forces. AAU rules permit athletes in the services to compete against Santee without jeopardizing their amateur status.

The Virginian-Pilot relays, of which this will be the third edition otherwise will be an all-high school event. Taking part will be high school athletes from eastern Virginia. Meet officials said Santee's guest appearance here will "in no way jeopardize" the amateur standing of the scholastic competitors.

Santee, a Marine lieutenant, said at the Quantico Marine Corps base he was "happy to be able to run at Norfolk . . . I'm able if they're willing." He said he had no plans to run elsewhere "at the moment."

Dynamite Blast Rips Hole In Public School

REPUBLIC, Mo. — A dynamite blast ripped a hole in the rear wall of the public school early today, causing damaged estimated at $5,000.

Glass in the rear door and one window in the building was shattered. Eight windows in the vocational agriculture buildings, about 200 feet away, also were broken.

Sheriff's officers estimated about 25 sticks of dynamite were used in the explosion. They ascribed the relative small amount of damage to inexperience on the part of the dynamiters.

School Superintendent G. K. Leonard said the blast might have been a "repercussion of school district reorganization." Republic Consolidated School District No. 3 was formed recently by consolidating 15 small districts.

The authorities also were investigating an apparent attempt to dynamite the school at Varona, 20 miles away. A bundle of dynamite was found near the school today.

ST. LOUIS — A grocery store owner and his wife were beaten and robbed of about $300 by a bandit Friday night.

Isaac Rosenbaum, 56, said the incident occurred after he and his wife Adele, 54, closed their store and found the car had a flat tire. Rosenbaum, owner of Rosenbaum's Market, said he was knocked down by the bandit who took $300 from his pocket. The store owner said he ran for help. His wife was slugged, apparently with a pistol, while he was seeking help.

Mrs. Rosenbaum was taken to

Fire In Children's Playhouse Is Caused By Play With Matches

A children's playhouse in a lot behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hausam, 2230 West Third, caught fire about 5:30 p.m. Friday, as a result of children playing with matches. Slight damage resulted although for a time it appeared as if a residence was on fire all over from smoke drifting in the neighborhood.

The playhouse, owned by Donnie Hausam and Johnny Kehde, was flaming on the back side when discovered. Two neighborhood boys who saw it unrolled a garden hose and started sprinkling it down. They were Richard and John Williams, 2215 West Second St. Terrace. From the other side, John B. Ellison, a neighbor of the Hausams, had a garden hose operating.

Firemen used a booster line and they soon had the fire extinguished. The origin of the fire was said to have started when some little girl was playing with matches. No names were involved according to the fire department report.

State Auditor Gives Report on City Books Before Lincoln Board

Missouri State Auditor Haskell Holman was present at a special meeting of the City Board of Lincoln Wednesday evening, March 28, at the Farmers Bank building in Lincoln.

A petition had been circulated among local citizens several months ago to have the city records or books audited. The petition was signed by 5 per cent of the voters. Holman reported that the audit had been completed by state auditors with favorable and satisfactory results. The total cost of the audit to the city was $546.19.

Airman Suffers Slight Concussion In Auto Mishap

A/B Thurman Boone, Negro, Whiteman Air Force Base, suffered a slight concussion in an automobile accident across from 311 East Jefferson about 10:10 p. m. Saturday.

Boone, according to A/B Ronald Smith, also of the Whiteman AFB, was driving the car a 1955 Ford sedan. He said Thurman turned north on Washington off St. Louis Street, and started to turn west on Jefferson when he apparently lost control of the vehicle.

The car went to the southside of the street in a diagonal direction up an embankment, crashed through a wire fence and went on to crash head-on into a tree.

The airman was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing ambulance where emergency treatment was rendered by Dr. A. R. Maddox, who said he appeared to be suffering from a concussion. He was later removed to the Air Base hospital for further treatment and observation.

Damage to the automobile was the front end, the bumper, grill and hood of the car being smashed. Bacon's wrecker towed the car to the Bacon Service station.

The car was reportedly owned by Mathew Rogers of 114 West Jefferson Street.

Ex-Tavern Operator Seized for Illegally Returning to US

ST. LOUIS — Salvatore Moncado, former St. Louis tavern operator, has been seized on charges he illegally returned to this country a year after being deported and is in federal custody here.

He is awaiting a hearing on the charges by immigration authorities that he re-entered the United States as a stowaway on a ship in 1949.

Moncado was arrested Tuesday at Sikeston, Mo., where he had been living with a son and working as a linoleum layer.

He was convicted in 1937 of transporting women from Illinois to St. Louis for immoral purposes and was sentenced to five years in prison. He later was deported to Italy.

Moncado, held under $2,000 bond, will be given a hearing April 9 either in St. Louis or Chicago.

US Pressured To Sell Military Weapons to Israel

WASHINGTON, March 31 — The United States was under heavy pressure at home and abroad today to sell arms to Israel or see that other friendly countries do so.

But American officials stuck to their line of friendly impartiality in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

They said it was up to the British and the French—or any others in the Free World, for that matter—to decide for themselves whether to help arm Israel. As for the United States, they cited Secretary of State Dulles' statements that solution lies in "means other than an arms race."

They said this remains U. S. policy, which catalogs as "under consideration" Israel's five-month-old request to buy 63 million dollars in U. S. weapons to counter Egypt's purchase of possibly 100 millions in Soviet arms.

But this policy already was under new scrutiny and it was questionable how long it could withstand tugs and pulls from members of Congress, Israeli officials, and Allies like Britain and France.

A total of 153 of the 435 members of the House of Representatives—51 Republicans and 102 Democrats—have petitioned Dulles in support of Israel's request. The issue is a potent one during this election year in view of the powerful Jewish vote.

Ex-Alderman Ends City Workhouse Terms

ST. LOUIS — Two former Democratic St. Louis Aldermen, Walter W. Ziegenbalg and Ben Oliver, have completed city workhouse terms for misconduct in office with time off for good behavior.

The 59-year-old Ziegenbalg, former vice president of the board, was released Friday and Oliver, 51, was released Tuesday.

The pair served slightly less than 11 months of one-year terms.

Both were sentenced on pleas of guilty to reduced charges of sale of public office and fraud in office. They originally were charged with using their offices for soliciting and accepting bribes for favorable action on bills up for consideration by the aldermanic board.

The remaining eight per cent, Fleuty said, was to adjust the inequity which has developed between the switchmen and other railroad crafts.

Under the terms of federal law, the railroads were given 30 days' prior notice of the wage demands. Present wage scales were not available.

Nude Portrait Is Improper In Nightclub

ROME — A nude portrait may hang with probity in a museum but be improper in a night club—it all depends.

So ruled Judge Francesco Greco Saturday after five months of contemplation. He allowed 30 days for removal of the nude painting of German actress Lisa Schneider from a night club wall.

The Italian artist, Novella Parigini, said she would appeal.

The pretty Miss Schneider insisted in a suit that she had specified her nude portrait "was not for display in any place open to the general public."

"Exposition of a nude in a gallery or academy is a very different thing from exposing it in a cafe or night club," Judge Greco said. "The same public does not frequent the same places."

"Museums, galleries, academies are goals of those who truly love art, however it may be expressed. Night clubs, however, are frequented by a mixed public, among whom are people who love life more than art."

Furthermore, the judge ruled, Miss Schneider was not a professional model and had not been paid for posing.

Miss Parigini announced she would paint a nude portrait of herself to replace that of Miss Schneider on the night club wall, and chortled:

"I want to see whether the judge will rule I'm violating my own decency."

Switchmen's Union Notifies Railroads Of Raise Demand

BUFFALO, N. Y. — The Switchmen's Union of North America has notified all railroads with which it has contracts that it will demand a 25 per cent wage increase for all switchmen.

The union has more than 10,000 members throughout the country, most of them employed by western railroads.

W. A. Fleete, international president, said his union wanted 17 per cent of the increase demanded to raise wages commensurate with "the improved financial condition of the railroads."

The remaining eight per cent, Fleuty said, was to adjust the inequity which has developed between the switchmen and other railroad crafts.

Under the terms of federal law, the railroads were given 30 days' prior notice of the wage demands. Present wage scales were not available.

8,000 Marines Embark On Training Exercise On Kauai Island Beach

HONOLULU, March 31 — Eight thousand Marines hit the barking sands beach of Kauai Island next month in the largest training exercise here since the Korean war.

A platoon of Marines will land on the lush island the easy way—by helicopter, in a test of "chopper" landing tactics.

The exercise is part of a series being staged by the Marine Corps in the Pacific area to test "atomic age concepts of war."

Simulated atomic explosions will be touched off by both the attackers and mock defenders.

Kauai, most northwesterly of the Hawaiian Islands, is about 100 miles from Honolulu.

Five thousand sailors from Amphibious Squadron 1 will join in the exercise and haul the Marines to the beaches. Planes from the 1st Provisional Air-Ground Task Force, stationed on Oahu, will swoop over the beaches in mock firing passes during the landing.

The air-ground force is testing new Marine air support methods.

Finding The Cause For Disease Has Been The Goal of the Scientists for Centuries

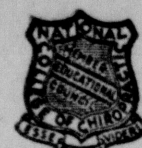

It remained for Dr. D. D. Palmer to prove to the world in 1895 that pressure on nerves produce disease, and that Chiropractic adjustments restore and maintain good health.

The discovery of Chiropractic has been destined to become one of the greatest blessings in the world of scientific healing. As much good as Chiropractic has done in the past with crude methods, all this has now been changed and today we have a new and better Chiropractic. It has stepped ahead with advanced ideas and accurate methods, which enables the modern Chiropractor to apply the principles of his science with an ease and exactness never before thought possible.

Today's Chiropractic health service is entirely different from that of any other healing method. It is so different in fact that there is no comparison. It is even different from former methods of Chiropractic. It is more comprehensive and more effective.

Federal law rules Chiropractic essential. Congress and President place Chiropractic on equal plane with medicine and other major healing arts. A milestone in the history of the healing arts in this country was achieved recently when legislation passed by Congress and approved by the President placed Chiropractic on a basis of equality with medicine, dentistry and other major healing professions.

Latter-Day Saints Church— Farm Boy Becomes Church's President and 'Prophet'

SALT LAKE CITY, March 31 (AP)—One summer day in 1883, a 14-year-old boy dismounted from his horse on a farm near Huntsville, Utah. He knelt beside a creek and asked God for a revelation that would guide his spiritual thoughts.

"I waited 10 years for an answer," David Oman McKay, president of the Latter-Day Saints Mormon Church, recalls. "And when it came I knew I would devote the rest of my life to God."

"I received the answer when I was serving as a young missionary of the church in Scotland. During a spiritual meeting, I received a confirmation of my assurance of the divinity of the Gospel. And then a church official rose and said to me:

"If you are faithful, you will yet stand in the leading councils of the church."

Fifty-three years later—on April 9, 1951—McKay became president of the Mormon Church. Today he is revered by the world's 1½ million Mormons not only as their leader but also as a "prophet, seer and revelator."

McKay looks the part of a religious leader. He is a rugged six-footer with silver hair and massive shoulders. At 82 he has an abundance of energy and enthusiasm.

In his position as church president, he also heads a vast business empire valued at more than 500 million dollars. The church has sizable property holdings and is a major stockholder in Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. and such church concerns as Zion's Cooperative Mercantile Institution Department Store, the Hotel Utah, the Desert News newspaper, Brigham Young University, several hospitals, three banks, an insurance company and a radio and television station.

In discussing the church's holdings, McKay emphasizes that "in my mind these material things come second."

"The greatest need in the world is spirituality," he says. "Men must turn their hearts from selfishness and they must be more willing to render service to others."

"Young people should look forward to building a home founded upon the eternal truth that marriage is for raising children. The happiest homes are those in which the parents are blessed with happy, loving children."

It was in just such a happy family that young David McKay was raised.

He was born Sept. 8, 1873, in Huntsville and was taught by his deeply religious parents to "work hard, pray hard and enjoy life."

When he was 7, the Mormon Church "called" his father for a mission. He was to preach the Gospel in Europe.

David was the oldest boy and to him fell the job of "man of the family."

"I fed the animals, chopped wood and milked the cows every day before school," he recalls.

It was after his father returned from his mission that David became extremely serious about his religion and began asking God for spiritual guidance.

The church called McKay to serve as a missionary when he was graduated from the University of Utah in 1897. He went to England and the following year "received the Lord's answer" at the spiritual meeting in Scotland.

McKay returned to Utah, married his university sweetheart, Emma Ray Riggs, and began teaching at Weber Academy in Ogden. He devoted most of his spare time to the church.

In April 1906, the church named him to the Council of Twelve Apostles. Then 32, he was one of US Birth Rate Shows Rise From '50 to '54

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rate of child bearing by American women rose about 11½ per cent between 1950 and 1954.

Reporting this today, the Census Bureau said the increase in fertility was a cardinal factor in the big population gains of recent years.

The rise was mainly among women aged 20 to 30.

The fertility rate showed no gain from 1950 to 1954 for women 15 to 19 years of age, and dropped by one per cent for women 45 to 49 years of age.

From 15 to 49 is the general

Then he served as counselor to President Heber J. Grant and President George Albert Smith, and became the church's ninth president after President Smith's death.

child bearing age span as used in the Census Bureau tabulations.

The statistics were organized on the basis of taking the total number of children that women in various age groups had had during their lifetime, and dividing this by 1,000.

For instance, it figured that a cross section of 1,000 women aged 15 to 44 in the year 1954 would report a total of 1,555 births during their lives up to that point. In 1950, the total births for a like number of women of similar ages would have been 1,395.

On this basis, the fertility rise

Bible College Student Was In Pulpit

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER — Ralph Nichols, student at the Bible College, University of Missouri, Columbia, was guest speaker at the Federated Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. N. O. Wetherell, who was ill. He was accompanied by Miss Andrews, also a student at M.U. They were dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. Wetherell. The Peninsula Cemetery Club served its annual chicken dinner Saturday at the Blackwater school building. There was a good patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Darling, Sedalia spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Darling, south of Ridge Prairie. Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Gillespie, Blackwater.

Mrs. Rabern Kella returned home Friday, March 23, from Scotsdale, Ariz., where she visited for a week in the home of her brother, Bert Wells, and family. She accompanied her sister, Mrs. P. R. Auer and her son, Buddy, to Clarksdale. They were met there by another sister, Mrs. W. A. Pollock, and Mr. Pollock of Pacific Grove, Calif., who were guests also in the Wells home.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Shifflet were hosts at dinner Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rapp, daughter and son, Janet and Jerry, of Speed; Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Esser, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Widel, daughters and sons, Miss Norma, Karen, Phillip, and Kenneth; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Price and children Dennis, Charles, and Bonnie Carol; Mr. and Mrs. George J. Becker, Jr., daughters, Miss Marylin and Rosalie.

Mrs. Hulda Duval returned home Friday after spending the winter in the homes of her children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lehman, Winchester, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Arch Duval, Jefferson City; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stewart, St. Louis; also with Mr. and Mrs. Al Herring, Winchester, Ill.

Clarence Friemonth Retires With 42 Years As River Pilot

KANSAS CITY — Capt. Clarence H. Friemonth is retiring tomorrow after 42 years as a pilot on the Missouri River.

In that time he never sunk a boat, hit a bridge or slammed into a pier.

He has been 43 years with the Kansas City district of the Army Engineers. His last command was the dredge William Mitchell, one of the last of the old side-wheel steamers.

He was born near West Glasgow, Mo. where his father operated the Glasgow ferry.

Friemonth plans to build a new home at New Haven, Mo., and take it easy.

Trailer's Week Out

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — Fisherman T. L. Gregory reported that his boat trailer was stolen from near a bridge on the Knoxville highway while he was fishing. A week later, he said, he went fishing at the same spot. When he returned to shore, the trailer was in place.

Candidate Flies 'Combat Mission' Against Gambling

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — A World War II fighter pilot flew a "combat mission" today against gambling in his bid for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney of Madison County.

Dick R. Mudge Jr., in a light plane normally used for crop dusting, "bombed" a night club with 10,000 leaflets which declared he would keep all gambling joints closed if elected.

The night club, the Club Prevue, has been closed more than a week. Its liquor license was revoked last Wednesday and it has been raided twice by state police who reported finding evidence of gambling.

Mudge, 36 and the father of four children, is waging an all-out fight against gambling which he says has been operating wide open in his county for years.

In World War II he flew 78 missions before he was shot down by the Germans in 1944 and taken prisoner. When he completed his "combat mission" today he said: "I mean every word I said in those leaflets."

Burglars Batter Open Wrong Safe at Theatre

ST. LOUIS — Burglars battered open the wrong safe at Ronnie's Drive-In Theater in suburban Sappington.

A sledge hammer, wrecking bar, iron punch and blow torch were used to crack one safe Friday but it was empty. The equipment had been stored in a closet.

A second safe, disfigured by hammer blows, remained unopened with $1,000 locked tightly inside.

The 2000-mile long Appalachian Trail, in the eastern part of the United States, winds through 14 states, eight national forests, and two national parks.

For an "April Fool" trick in decorating try disguising that fuse box that is an eye-sore in so many kitchens. Make a picture out of it by covering the door of the box with a magazine print or piece of wallpaper that has interesting figures or scenes on it. A group of small framed pictures on either side of the door or trivets surrounding the decorated door would make a spot of interest out of an unattractive necessity.

Sorosis Hears Prentiss Mooney Speak on State

Prentiss Mooney, director of the Missouri Division of Resources and Development, will be the speaker Monday afternoon at Sorosis, taking as his subject: "Missouri, Land of Diversity."

Mr. Mooney will give a lecture and also show a colored motion picture on the state. He has been an employee of the division since January, 1946, when he started as head of the publicity section with the title of assistant to the director. He has been acting director and director for more than a year and served as a member of the board of that national travel promotion group for several years.

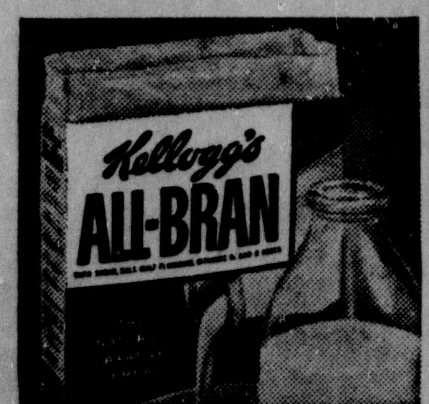

With both newspaper and radio background Mooney is a member of the Missouri Outdoor Writers and the Outdoor Writers of America serving on the board of directors of both organizations. He attended the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma Baptist University and prior to entering the Navy in 1942 was on the editorial staff of the St. Joseph News-Press for seven years. A luncheon in his honor will precede the meeting.

Miss Kathryn Spangler, chairman of current topics will introduce the speaker.

When men lived by hunting, the earth's population could not have exceeded 7,000,000 since seven square miles per person are required for a hunter's economy and the earth's total is 50,000,000 square miles, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Legendary Heros Meet In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — The kids could have had a field day in a Vine Street eatery the other lunchtime. There was Davy Crockett in one booth and Robin Hood in another.

Crockett, of course, was Texan Fess Parker, studious-looking in glasses as he conferred with his lawyer about investments. Robin Hood was Britisher Richard Greene, in Hollywood for interviews and the George Gobel Show. The two portrayers of legendary characters were introduced and allowed as how they would meet in London. They will be there today, thanks to modern transportation that Hood and Crockett never dreamed of.

Greene, still as amazingly handsome as when he was a Hollywood leading man, has been enjoying his new burst of fame as the gay leader of the Sherwood Forest gang. He has had a brief respite before returning to England to film his second 39 shows.

"I took on the show with some trepidation," he commented. "I had never particularly thought of myself in the role of Robin Hood, and I didn't know if I wanted to be typed."

"But then I said to myself that other people had been typed and had managed to break out of it. Frank Sinatra is an excellent example. So I decided to take it on reasoning that at some future date I would be able to wriggle out of the green tights."

Originally he had planned to do only 39 shows. But the program proved so popular in this country and England that the option was lifted and he was sought for another year's product.

The Academy award hit of the year... and a picture that does deep and tender credit to the human race is the Easter attraction at the Fox Theatre. Hormone in Feed Increases Weight

Use of Hexestrol Causes Big Cattle Gain, Efficiency Jump

A 26 per cent increase in gain and an 11 per cent increase in feed efficiency was the result of a hexestrol cattle feeding experiment at the University of Missouri, according to A. J. Dyer, University professor of animal husbandry. An experimental lot of eight steers fed the hormone produced these results when compared to a control lot of eight similar steers.

Dyer was reporting on a recent cattle feeding experiment at the annual Spring Livestock Day held on the University of Missouri campus Thursday. The objectives of the experiment were to find the effects of adding hexestrol—di-hydro stilbestrol—and rumen organisms separately to a standard ration. Rate of gain, economy of gain, and quality of the end product were the items receiving consideration in the experiment.

In addition to the larger gains, the cattle receiving the hormone graded higher on foot, brought a higher price, shrank less in transit, and yielded a slightly higher dressing percentage than did either of the other two lots of cattle used in the experiment.

The experiment involved 24 long-yearling steers, divided into three lots of eight steers each, and was carried on over a 112-day feeding period. The 24 steers averaged 820 pounds at the start of the experiment. Experimental rations were used on two lots and the third served as a control lot.

The control lot received daily a standard ration of ground ear corn, soybean oil meal, and alfalfa hay, Dyer said. One experimental lot had four grams of rumen organisms per steer added to the standard ration and the other experimental lot received the standard ration plus 10 milligrams of hexestrol daily.

Steers receiving hexestrol gained at a rate of 3.2 pounds daily, the steers receiving the rumen organisms gained 2.7 pounds, and the control lot showed 2.54 pounds daily gain at the end of the 112-day period. Hexestrol stimulated the appetite of the steers fed the hormone and they ate more grain than the control lot but were still 11 per cent better on feed efficiency than the control lot. The lot getting the rumen organisms required as much feed as did the control lot.

However, during the first two weeks on feed, the steers receiving the rumen organisms did not scour and gained at a rate equal to that made by the steers fed hexestrol, Dyer noted.

All three lots were marketed the same day and the hexestrol-fed steers brought $1 more per hundredweight than did the control lot in addition to grading higher, shrinking less, and having higher dressing percentages. Steers that received the rumen addition to their ration brought 50 cents more per hundredweight than did the control lot and ranked second to the hexestrol-fed lot in other departments.

"In general, the carcass grade for all lots was disappointing," Dyer said, "as the steers graded low choice on foot and average good in the carcass."

According to Dyer, the grader at the market commented that the carcasses were tidy, having only a small amount of kidney fat and a minimum, but adequate, amount of exterior fat. However, the rib eye generally had only traces of marbling and tended to be soft. This was true for all three lots.

One control lot carcass graded low good, six average good, and one low choice. Hexestrol-fed steers graded two in the low good grade, three in the average good, one in the high good, and two in the low choice grade. Rumen organism-fed cattle had one representative in the low good grade, one in the average good, three in the high good, two in the low choice, and one in the average choice grade.

Good Sires, Rigid Culling Win Awards

Missouri beef producers receiving awards during the Spring Livestock Day program in Columbia Thursday stressed the value of good herd sires and the rigid culling of the cow herd in maintaining a successful beef enterprise. Awards were presented to six winners in the Missouri Beef Cattle Project on calves produced during 1955.

Cash prizes were given to each of the six cattlemen—three awards each in the Angus and Hereford breeds — with the understanding the money be applied toward the purchase of better herd sires. First-place award of $100 in the Angus division went to W. J. Licklider, Rolla. The second — place award of $60 was given to Wesley Wood, Thompson, and the third-place money of $40 went to Clifton Smith, Eagleville.

Identical cash awards were given to producers in the Hereford division and these were made as follows: Paul Klocke, Edina, first; Floyd Eckard, Martinsville, second; and Melvin Vahle, Warrenton, third.

Winners were picked by extension livestock specialists at the University of Missouri. Herd management, percentage of calf crop, uniformity of type and quality, weight of calves, and a written report were factors considered in the selection of the winners.

Besides winning the special cash awards, five of the six producers repeated as winners in another division of the project. Klocke, Licklider, Eckard, Wood, and Vahle were given bronze plaques for producing calves weighing 500 pounds or more at 225 days of age and meeting other standards of efficient production.

Although not a winner in the 500-pound calf division, Smith was given a special award since he has been among the project's winners for the past three years.

The Missouri Beef Cattle Project is sponsored by the Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn state breed associations, the Missouri Livestock Association, and the Chambers of Commerce of St. Louis and Kansas City in cooperation with the Missouri Extension Service.

Awards were presented during the morning portion of the Spring Livestock Day program by Walter H. Atzenweiller and Lowell O. Burns, respective agricultural representatives of the Kansas City and St. Louis Chambers of Commerce.

Livestock is the major source of farm income on most Missouri farms. With lower prices for their meat animals, livestock farmers are concerned with efficient production and good marketing plans. With hogs, this includes farrowing large, healthy litters of the right type, upper left, coming at the time to get them on the market when prices are best.

For the farmer with a cow herd, early, high-quality calves, upper right, are important as the profit margin narrows. Getting these calves on the market at the right time, either as feeders or as slaughter stock, also needs consideration. Many Missouri farmers sell their calves as feeder stock in one of the many feeder calf sales held annually over the state, as shown at the lower left. This picture was taken at the 1955 Monroe County feeder calf sale.

Sheep, lower right, may not be as popular on Missouri farms as they once were but they are still a good source of farm income. For the money invested, they make one of the best returns in a livestock operation. Good rams, good pasture, parasite control, good winter rations for ewes, and a 110 percent or better lamb crop all are essential in a sheep enterprise.

Insignificant Differences—

Hexestrol, Aureomycin Fail To Help Fattening of Lambs

Additions of hexestrol, or aureomycin, or a combination of the two proved of little value in the fattening of 65-pound lambs under the conditions of an initial University of Missouri test, G. B. Thompson said in Columbia Thursday in a report given at Spring Livestock Day.

"Differences in rate of gain and feed efficiency were slight and considered insignificant when the growth-promoting hormone and antibiotic were used alone or in combination with the basal ration of alfalfa hay, shelled yellow corn, and soybean oil meal," the University animal husbandry department staff member told those attending the annual event.

According to Thompson, growth-promoting properties of hormone-like substances are fairly well established for cattle but results are less consistent in lamb feeding. However, hexestrol may have value in lamb feeding once the optimum ration is found.

As for the value of antibiotics in rations of fattening lambs, he said reports indicate they help reduce overeating disease in lambs, increase weight gains, and improve feed efficiency although these advantages haven't been consistent. The value of an antibiotic addition to the ration appears to have its greatest advantage in areas of high bacterial contamination.

In the Missouri test recently completed, there were no cases of overeating disease in either aureomycin-fed or control lots even though none of the lambs were vaccinated for the disease.

However, the lambs' ration was 55 per cent hay and 45 per cent grain throughout the test. Feeding in this manner usually reduces overeating problems.

As previously mentioned, there was only an insignificant gain in weight and feed efficiency in the antibiotic-fed lot when compared to the control lot.

Large and small-type ewes bred for April lambs were used in the experiment. They grazed on blue grass pasture from Aug. 29 until placed in a dry lot the following January. From Jan. 11, the ewes were fed in the dry lot until April 2 when they were moved to wheat pasture, staying there until the end of the test May 21.

Three Lots Of Shorthorns Handle Well

Three lots of grade Shorthorn calves were handled to produce acceptable beef carcasses soon after weaning, J. E. Comfort said in Columbia Thursday in reporting on a University of Missouri feeding trial at the annual Spring Livestock Day. Twenty-five calves were used and were divided into three lots.

Comfort, a member of the University's animal husbandry department, said results of the experiment were satisfactory as all lots made good gains and produced excellent carcasses. Calves were weaned when eight months old and were sold two to four months after weaning, depending upon the time it took to get them into good market condition.

Lot one was made up of January-February calves creep fed while nursing. At the end of eight months, they weighed 574 pounds and had eaten 6.34 bushels of corn each during the nursing period.

The second lot, also January-February calves, was fed grain the six weeks preceding weaning. At weaning time, they weighed 530 pounds. They used 25 pounds of grain.

Both lots of calves were on wheat and lespedeza pasture during the grazing season. Since the first lot had received grain all the time they were nursing and the second lot for only a six-week period, the difference of 37 pounds between the two lots was small and points up the value of good pastures, according to Comfort.

The third lot was made up of calves born during March, April and May. They were also fed grain for a six-week period before weaning and they ate 2.46 bushels of corn each. They weighed 511 pounds when weaned.

After weaning, each group was fed a ration made up of eight parts shelled corn and one part soybean oil meal by weight with alfalfa hay for roughage. They were fed on this ration until they weighed 700 pounds and had enough condition to grade good to choice.

The first lot weighed 706 pounds 70 days after they were weaned. The second lot weighed 764 pounds 126 days after weaning. Although the third lot has not yet been sold, Comfort said they averaged 665 pounds March 10 and will be fed until the first week of April.

All of the calves gained about 1.85 pounds daily during the time after weaning. The first lot was fed 18 bushels of corn, the second lot 22 bushels, and the third lot will probably use 21 bushels and will weigh around 710 pounds when they are sold in April.

Calcium, Phosphorous Surplus Causes Skin Disorder in Swine

Feeding calcium and phosphorous at high levels in a swine ration seems to be the cause of a skin disorder called parakeratosis, Leland Tribble, University of Missouri animal husbandry staff member, said here at Columbia Thursday.

Tribble, in giving a Spring Livestock Day report on an experiment involving minerals in swine rations, said recent experiments at the University and elsewhere tend to bear this belief out.

Seven of 13 pigs, weighing 35 to 50 pounds, developed a dermatitis two to four weeks after going on a ration containing 3 per cent calcium and .6 per cent phosphorous. Gains of the affected pigs were cut markedly but all pigs recovered without treatment and satisfactory gains were made following recovery.

In another ration using .6 per cent calcium and .45 per cent phosphorous, four of 10 pigs developed parakeratosis in a 1955 test. No cases of the skin disorder developed among pigs receiving the same rations plus zinc. However, in 1954, there were no cases when 33 pigs were fed the two minerals at this rate without zinc in another experiment.

"From this current test, it would be logical to believe that zinc prevented the development of parakeratosis if it were not for the 1954 trial where pigs were fed on the same ration without a single case of trouble," he said. "One explanation might be that the corn and soybean meal used in the 1954 ration contained more zinc than did the corn and bean meal used in 1955."

Research workers in other states have found that high calcium levels seem to cause parakeratosis and that the condition can be cured or prevented by adding zinc to the diet. Evidently, the high level of calcium ties up the zinc in a pig's body causing a deficiency.

In another phase of the experiment, a ration containing corn, soybean oil meal, tankage, and wheat shorts was fed with and without a zinc addition to a mineral mixture of .6 per cent calcium, .5 per cent phosphorous, and .5 per cent salt. There were no cases of parakeratosis on either of the two rations and the zinc addition did not improve the ration.

The best gains were made by pigs in these two lots but good results may have been due more to the better balance of all nutrients than to the mineral level used in the ration.

Pigs given a mineral mix free choice, along with corn and soybean oil meal, made average gains but ate only a small amount of

Checks Bull Calves' Feed Use Efficiency

During the past year, the animal husbandry department at the University of Missouri continued a program of testing bull calves as to their ability to gain and use feed efficiently, J. E. Comfort said in Columbia Thursday. Comfort, a member of the department, was speaking to visitors attending the University's annual Spring Livestock Day.

Seven Hereford bull calves were selected from the University's beef cattle breeding experiment at the Weldon Springs Experiment Station. The bull calves were picked because of their heavier minerals. The calculated calcium and phosphorous content of the pigs' ration in this lot was .28 and .38 per cent respectively.

This ration would appear to be lacking in calcium and unbalanced as far as the calcium-phosphorous ratio is concerned. The ratio should be one to one or two to one calcium to phosphorous.

However, gains were not affected by this low level of calcium intake and no cases of parakeratosis were observed in the lot.

"Rather dramatic evidence indicating the extent of the mineral deficiency of pigs fed minerals free choice was furnished when two pigs suffered broken legs shortly after being removed from the experiment," Tribble said. "An examination of the broken bones showed that the walls of the bones were thin and brittle."

Under the conditions of this experiment, self feeding of a simple mineral mix was not satisfactory when a corn and soybean oil meal ration was used.

weaning weights and better conformation scores.

They were calved the first three months of 1955 and weighed 326 to 481 pounds at six months of age. When they were brought to Columbia for the test, Comfort said they were given a six weeks preliminary feeding to gentle them and to get them on full feed.

At the end of 140 days of full feeding, their daily gains ranged from 2.22 to 2.62 pounds a day. While feed efficiency varied among the bulls, all of them did very well in this respect, he said. The seven bulls ranged in weight from 90 to 940 pounds at the end of 140 days of feeding.

Both commercial and purebred breeders are showing increasing interest in the rate of gain and feed efficiency of the bulls they buy for their breeding herds. Birth weights, weaning weights, and conformation scores are other measures used in picking herd sires.

Cigarette Economics
MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (AP)—Leonard (Hoot) McGraw 44, who doesn't smoke, says he can tell the economic condition of the country by the length of cigarette butts littered on the ground. "Look," he says, "now they're long—things are good. During the depression and rationing people burned their hands of them."

It has been estimated that the gopher, which weighs about a pound and is no more than a foot long, can dig a tunnel 300 feet long and one gopher high in sandy soil in a good night's work.

City Responds to Holiday Like a Flower to the Sun

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — New York responds to a holiday like a spring flower to the sun.

Just now, on the eve of Easter, the city is blooming and blossoming, dressed to the teeth in a new spring outfit, a perky little bonnet and a corsage of lilies. What if you can still see your breath in the frosty air? It's spring, the Easter parade is at hand and our town likes to celebrate.

The avenues have been turned into galleries of color. They make you think of gold and alabaster, like the corridors of a palace.

As usual, the window decorators are having a field day. They have dressed the stores with great banks of flowers, azaleas and hyacinths in a fury of color, and streamers of yellow and blue and purple paper, and golden chickens and wonderful white rabbits as big as "Harvey," if you remember him.

I don't know which was more fun—

Watching the wonderment and delight in the eyes of a little girl when she saw the cascade of jelly beans, millions of jelly beans, all colors of the rainbow, in a candy-store window.

Or listening to two teen-agers in front of a foreign airlines window which features a bride in a glistening, diaphanous veil, and photographs of Grace Kelly and her prince. "Well, I don't care what anybody says, I think he's cute."

Then the sound of birds, twittering, pulled me up short. Birds on Fifth avenue. It was too chilly for anything less than a penguin. Well, the song came from a loud speaker above a store front, and as you looked up, a gay, happy sign was saying, "Hello Spring."

At another corner, there was the smell of a fresh, bracing perfume. It created whole images, violets, or open fields, or perhaps bluebells glistening with dew in a forest glen. That was coming from a store too, and making people stop and sniff and smile.

Even a book store was all brightened up with "Easter eggs," made of the same crinkly colored paper you use at Christmas. And somebody had put a bright yellow

Doctors and Wives Attend Dinner Given by Auxiliary

The dinner given by the Pettis County Medical Society Auxiliary Thursday night at the Sedalia Country Club honoring the doctors was attended by about 45 doctors, their wives and widows of doctors.

Mrs. Stanley Fischer and Mrs. D. C. Proctor served punch to the guests as they gathered for the dinner and Mrs. D. R. Edwards pinned red carnations, the doctor's flower, on the doctors as they arrived.

Hats were placed on a table on which was the sign bearing the slogan: "Hats off to the doctors," but each had the name of the owner tucked inside so there would be no mix up of which hat belonged to whom. At the end of the evening the wife of each doctor who could identify her husband's hat could keep the gift she found on top.

The dinner, featuring venison brought back by Dr. J. W. Boger from his hunting trip last fall, was served buffet style.

The table, in horseshoe shape, was centered with a large arrangement of red carnations on either side of which were three branch silver candelabra holding lighted red tapers. Greenery was used down the center of the entire table with rose bowls in which floated red carnations at intervals. On the table, too, were white lighted tapers and nestled along the greenery were bright colored Easter eggs. At each place were clever little nut cups with a band of color around the top and attached to them were little paper hats, some men's hats, where the doctors were to sit and Easter bonnets for the women.

Mrs. J. W. Boger, president of the auxiliary, following the dinner presented to the doctors a check for $500 with which to buy some piece of new equipment needed for the hospital.

The check was accepted by Dr. Karl Gonsler, president of the Pettis County Medical Society, who expressed not only appreciation for the check but for the tribute paid the doctors on Doctor's Day.

Dr. Gonsler stated that men of the medical profession often become discouraged. "We cannot live up to being almost perfect individuals," he said, "that people seem to think we should be, but we always do the very best we can."

The money given the doctors by the auxiliary was raised through the sale of show tickets of which the greatest number was sold by Mrs. David R. Edwards.

Dr. Gonsler stated that the auxiliary started out first to buy baby scales for the hospital but the amount grew to such a sum that the doctors had not decided what piece of equipment would now be purchased.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games with Mrs. Carl Siegel in charge. Prizes given in the games were selected and wrapped by Mrs. Karl Gonsler and Mrs. T. J. Hopkins, who also assisted in making the favors and other plans for the party as did Mrs. A. L. Lowe and Mrs. Edwards. Decorations were planned by Mrs. J. W. Boger and carried out by her committee. The hats that served as placecards were made by Mrs. Boger.

Past presidents of the auxiliary, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Mrs. A. L. Walter, Mrs. H. A. Hite and Mrs. Gordon Stauffer welcomed the guests as they arrived.
